Tala History

1950 marks the year Leon Abedian establishes TALA Jewelry. After a short period, TALA opens its first retail store at a location what was then the heart of Tehran. In the course of the following decades TALA Jewelry successfully emerges as a trusted brand and the leading fine jewelry designer and manufacturer in the country.

In the mid70-s TALA Corporation finishes the TALA Building project and opens TALA Gallery, which is to this day the largest jewelry store in the Middle East.

In the second decade of the new millennium, TALA Jewelry manufactures the first luxury watch made in Iran.

By producing unique designs, which transcend cultural boundaries and create artistic bridges between the East and the West, TALA Jewelry has had the honor of serving many royal family members from around the world, famous celebrities, fashion icons and world renowned figures such as Elizabeth Taylor and Grace Kelly as its customers.

By meticulously striving for perfection and dedicating ourselves to extracting and presenting the beauty of gemstones, we continue pioneering the world of luxury and fine jewelry.

Leon Abedian

Born in 1932, Leon Abedian, was destined to form the foundations of an empire of beauty where countless masterpieces of jewelry were to be created. He was a son of an Armenian immigrant family who had settled in Tehran after crossing many countries. At the age of 18 after gaining some experience, he realized his innate talent for the craftsmanship and unique taste in fashion and established TALA Jewelry.

Leon, while expanding his business, became the most distinguished and renowned gemologist of the country and was appointed as the specialist and jewelry expert for the Treasury of National Jewels of Iran. His passion for undying colorful beauty of gemstones never faded. He dedicated his time to sharing this passion and organized gemology and jewelry design classes where many students and jewelry enthusiasts were able to benefit from his vast knowledge and lifelong experience. He also contributed to many educational and philanthropic projects using TALA Jewelry's and also his own personal resources.

Here at TALA Jewelry we have inherited the lasting legacy of Leon Abedian and every day we work tirelessly to uphold the values passed down to us in order to create the most exquisite jewelry for our distinguished clients.

A ring made of rubies and diamonds inspired by the tiara made by Leon Abedian which is now presented at the 23rd showcase of the museum of the Treasury of National Jewels of Iran. The total weight of the tiara is 284 grams and it is made with the second largest ruby of the treasury (108 carats), 488 diamonds (402.40 carats) and 14 pearls.
